

Looking for a Dynamic and Humorous Presentation!

Eldeen Pozniak

is a Passion Driven, Story Telling, Leadership Professional

“Eldeen Pozniak is an OMG moment.

Yes, she is a life-long moment.

She makes you rise from your hangover/coffee buzz/feigned illness to avoid this meeting kinda slumber to really, actually, truly pay attention.

She captivates. She engages.

She draws the most complacent been-there-done-that employees into the conversation.

Eldeen's audience shift forward on their chairs to breathe with her. Her words become theirs, her ideas their seeds of growth.”

A truly a captivating presenter! DCP Midstream - Racheal Henry

Great session! She is a rock star. Heck I even stood for the whole thing! Swire Coca-cola – Bradley Paterson Eldeen is a story-teller, weaving the message of her presentation throughout a variety of life experiences that bring the message home to each individual in the room. Her message transcends and is applicable to many industries and settings. She is equally comfortable in corporate boardrooms and on the international stage as she is talking to the people on the shop floor about working safely, in order for them to go home at the end of the day." Wayne Glover – Associations First

Eldeen is consistently an insightful and thoughtful leader and speaker. Eldeen has the ability to relate to people on all levels of organizations and cultures from the stage, creating an engaged, collaborative and fun environment to learn. David Beatty

Eldeen gave a one day safety seminar for our supervisors and they all commented on how Eldeen opened their eyes. She is a genuine speaker, trainer and safety professional who takes safety personal and has a gift for conveying the importance of taking safety seriously.
Kevin Yaganiski – Quality & Safety Manager – International Road Dynamics Inc.

I have worked with Eldeen for years. She is an experienced, knowledgeable and detail oriented professional and speaker. I have been particularly impressed with her knowledge and understanding of the skills associated with the development of effective business cultures that has moved and inspired our leadership to new levels of understanding and action with safety. Eldeen will always be one who's opinion is well respected and considered.
John Bennett – Vice President at M.C. Dean

I have been the Chair of the Western Conference on Safety for the last decade. Eldeen has been an invited key speaker at our conference on several occasions and has always done a fantastic job. She is a world class speaker on occupational health and safety who combines a passion for our field with the drive to stay on the leading edge and yet can still relate easily to everyone from the front line worker to the highest level company and government officials. In my opinion, she is one of the most highly respected Occupational Health and Safety Professionals in Canada. Terry Swain – President at Pacific Safety Center Ltd.

A Little Information about Some Enjoyed Keynotes, Presentations & Workshops,....

What is Up with this BS - Being Safe!

At times everyone questions why we do safety, how we do safety,... and this session focuses on the structure and culture needed within a responsibility and accountability based system. Eldeen Pozniak will take you on a journey as she shares some events in her life that have shaped her definitions, to explore your foundations and definitions for safety, to look at risk tolerance and consider some key tools,..... with a few laughs along the way. As health care professionals our job is to take care of others, and we often don't consider ourselves and our safety. This session will overview patient safety, as well as workplace safety and personal safety concepts.

Overall Eldeen's presentation was very good for our type of group, lots of energy and humour but also a good safety message. She hit key points that we wanted to promote within our workplace and industry. I especially liked the info on definitions and how its important to understand and communicate to people's definitions.

How to get thru a day's work,.... and have something left over to play with!

Eldeen is going to share some knowledge and a couple ideas to walk away with that you can apply to life - how to survive work and play. Although this session focuses on Mental Health and Well-being, she will touch on the topics of basics of safety at work and home - hazard, risk and control, wellness concepts and some basics of communication and lifestyle choices.

Wonderful session – made me think about some simple concepts I can easily put into practice at the workplace.

On the Road to Best Practice - Making Sure Shift Happens as Leader

This session will touch on how you can lead effectively to best practice. This session discussed the importance of lifelong learning, mentors, networking and professional organizations within your industry, and communication and other leadership skills. The foundations of emotional intelligence are discussed from which you can ensure sustainable success in your profession.

Entertaining, thought provoking. Great information presenting in a humorous way. I was moved, I laughed, I learned! Thanks for sharing your passion.

Making Safety Stick - Communicating so People Listen & Are Motivated

Safety Messages - How can we make them Stick. Why can everyone remember that urban legend, a rumor, or a story told over a couple of drinks, but walk out of a doctors office and not remember the topics discussed that day. As Professionals we communicate in a variety of ways and at times struggle with why our communications did not get attention, resonate, or get the message across like we expected. The concepts that will be discussed in this session are the stickiness factors - simple, unexpected, concrete, credible, emotional and stories. This session overviews principles of stickiness that one can apply to ensure successful messages and communication - sticks – that the information is understood, its remembered and it changes something. If you make use of these traits in your communications of all types you can make your ideas, messages, and information stick and affect the change that you are looking for.

*Great Session! Entertaining, thought provoking. Personal experiences drove it home!
I could have heard her for another hour.
Saw her three times today and would see her again.*
